Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: This statement of reasons for allowance includes the major differences in the claims not found in the prior art of record and reasons why that differences are considered to define patentably over the prior art. The statement is not intended to necessarily state all the reasons for allowance or all the details why claims are allowed and should not be relied upon for this purpose. Rather, this statement reflects what the examiner considers important and therefore the primary reasons for the allowance of the claims.

The primary reason for allowance is the limitation directed to the dynamic display of a plurality of bids and asks aligned with a static display of prices. Here unlike the prior art, the static display of prices does not move in response to a change in the inside market. In response thereto, and as claimed in each of the independent claims, a trader can consolidate the price levels of the common static price level and consolidating the display of the plurality of bid and ask indicators. The closest prior art including US Patent 6,408,282, PCT WO 01/16852 and commonly owned nonpatent literature "X Trader" lack these features.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
